(c) promote collective bargaining in the public health and social welfare sector;
(d) Promote the effective and expeditious resolution of disputes in the public health and social welfare sector;
(e) promote the effective delivery of services to the community;
(f) promote effective communication between the employer, its employees and the trade unions in the public health sector.

The powers and functions of the Council are to perform those functions set out in section 28 of the Act, including:

(a) negotiate collective agreements on matters of mutual interest
(b) implement, monitor and enforce its collective agreements;
(c) implement and monitor those collective agreements that have been concluded in the PSCBC;

6. PARTIES TO THE COUNCIL

6.1 The founding parties to the Council are the employer, and the trade unions who are parties to the PSCBC and who have members in the health and welfare sector that meet the admission criteria set out in this constitution.

6.2 A registered trade union or two or more registered trade unions acting together may apply for admission to the Council. The Council:

(i) must admit the applicant trade union if it has at least 40,000 or 20,000 members in good standing in the public health sector;

(ii) may admit the applicant trade union if it represents a majority in any class of employees that would justify taking into account the objectives of the Act, separate representation in the Council;¹

6.3 If two or more trade unions acting together as a single party, each having organisational rights with an employer and having a combined membership of 10,000 or 20,000 those trade unions may be represented in the Council as a single party.

6.4 The Council shall within 90 days of receiving an application for admission, decide whether to grant or refuse the application and must advise the applicant thereof within 30 days of reaching such a decision.

6.5 The Council shall terminate the membership of a trade union if:

(a) it receives a notice of termination of such membership from the trade union;

(b) the trade union dissolves or winds up in terms of its constitution;

6.6 The Council may terminate the membership of a trade union if:

¹ The following views were expressed by the parties:

- The employer supports the deletion of clause 6.2 (ii) and strongly supports a minimum threshold of 20,000. The employer believes that any threshold lower than 20,000 will be problematic given that several smaller groups can be accommodated in other ways by joining together with larger trade unions or by the council deciding to form subcommittees as the need arises to give smaller groups a voice. The employer also strongly supports the deletion of clause 6.2(ii) as the clause will allow separate representation based on specific professional characteristics, which may make it impossible for the council to function. If there are 90 different health professional groups, some only consisting of 50 to 150 persons, the retention of clause 6.2(ii) will put an impossible burden on the council to admit all such small groups. This will make the council unworkable and is not in accordance with the employer's view of how the council should operate. In any event, clause 6.3, the employer believes allows smaller groups to be accommodated.

- NEHAWU supports a threshold of 20,000 and the deletion of clause 6.2(ii).

- DENOSA supports a threshold of 20,000 and the inclusion of 6.2(ii).

- NUPSAW, NNJU, PSA and HOSPERSA support a threshold of 10,000 and the deletion of clause 6.2(ii), and

- PAWUSA supports a threshold of 10,000, which threshold should be reviewed annually, and supports the inclusion of clause 6.2(ii).
the trade union no longer complies with the admission requirements prescribed in this constitution; or

(b) the trade union's contributions to the Council are more than three months in arrears or it contravenes or fails to comply with a provision of the Act or this constitution that justifies termination of its membership;

6.7 Termination of a parties membership to the Council may be initiated by:

(a) the Secretary following the annual review of membership figures as set out in clause 7; or

(b) any party to the Council

6.8 The Council must consider any initiation to terminate the membership of a trade union. In considering this the trade union must be afforded a reasonable opportunity to submit representations to the Council as to why its membership should not be terminated.

6.9 If the membership of a trade union is terminated and such a trade union disputes the termination, the dispute may be referred to arbitration in terms of the Council's Dispute Resolution Procedure set out in Schedule 3.

7. ANNUAL REVIEW OF MEMBERSHIP FIGURES

The Secretary to the Council must review the annual membership figures of all trade unions admitted to the Council. This review must take place as soon as possible after 1 April of each year. The Secretary must report this decision to the Council by no later than 14 May of each year. For this purpose:

(a) the audited membership figures of each trade union with regard to its members that fall within the registered scope of the Council as referred to in section 100(a) of the Act, must be submitted to the Secretary of the Council by 31 March each year;

(b) the Secretary of the Council may afford a trade union which has not submitted its audited membership figures by 31 March of a specific year, the opportunity to submit such figures within 30 days; and

(c) the Council may, after the 30 days referred to in sub-clause (b) has elapsed, request the trade union concerned to provide reasons for non-compliance with these requirements and decide to suspend the participation of such trade union in the proceedings of the Council until its audited membership figures have been received. If the audited membership figures of the trade union are not received by the Council within three months of the date of suspension, admission of the trade union to the Council will automatically terminate.
8. APPOINTMENT OF REPRESENTATIVES AND ALTERNATES

8.1 The employer shall be represented in the Council by authorised representatives appointed by the Minister of Health and the Minister of Welfare, in consultation with the executing authorities representing the employers that fall within the jurisdiction of the Council.

8.2 The trade unions in the Council may each be represented by two representatives for the first threshold (10000/20000) members, then one additional representative for every additional 20 000/10000 members or part thereof up to a maximum of 5 representatives. A trade union may appoint any person to represent it in the Council, depending upon the issues that are to be discussed in the Council and up to the number designated to it in terms of this clause.

8.3 The number of representatives accorded to each trade union will remain the same from one annual review of the trade union’s membership figures, as set out in clause 7 to the next annual review.

9. DETERMINATION OF BASIS OF VOTES

9.1 The voting rights of an admitted trade union in the Council shall be determined on the basis of the number of members in good standing of such a trade union who are employees as on 31 December of the previous year in proportion to the number of members who are employees represented by all the trade unions in the Council.

9.2 The Secretary shall determine the number of votes of each admitted trade union in accordance with clause 7, which voting rights shall apply from one annual general meeting to the next annual general meeting. The Secretary shall, as soon as practicable after 31 March of each year, but by no later than 14 May of each year inform-

(a) such trade union of the number of votes it has in the Council;

(b) the Council of the number of votes that each trade union has in the Council; and

<sup>2</sup> NEHAWU, PSA and HOSPERSA support the view that additional representatives on the Council must be calculated in accordance with the formula "one additional representative for every additional 20000 members, or part thereof, to a maximum of 5 representatives". The employer supports the view of NEHAWU, PSA and HOSPERSA. However, the employer strongly supports the removal of the words "or part thereof" from the clause. The employer wants the words "or part thereof" removed as it would allow a union with 20 001 members to have the same number of representatives (3 representatives) as a union with 40 000 members.

NUPSAW, DENOSA and NWU support the view that the additional representatives on the Council must be calculated in accordance with the formula "one additional representative for every additional 10000 members, or part thereof, to a maximum of 5 representatives."
9.3 Any party that disputes the determination of the Secretary in terms of clause 7, may refer such a dispute for conciliation and if the dispute remains unresolved, for arbitration. If referred to arbitration, any arbitration award shall substitute the Secretary's determination.

9.4 The employer shall have a number of votes equal to that of the admitted trade unions jointly and the voting rights in the Council shall at all times be divided on an equal basis between the trade unions collectively, on the one hand, and the employer on the other hand.

9.5 If an agreement is entered into in the Council then, in the case of negotiations regarding a particular matter the voting rights shall be limited to a trade union that can prove that it represents employees affected by such matter, determined according to the number of its members in good standing who are affected by the matter, in relation to the total number of members who are affected by the matter as represented by the trade unions admitted in the Council.

10. CHAIRPERSON AND VICE CHAIRPERSONS

10.1 At the first meeting of the Council, the Chairperson and two vice Chairpersons shall be appointed in terms of the procedures set out in Schedule 4 attached to this constitution.

10.2 Future Chairpersons and future vice Chairpersons shall be elected during the annual general meeting of the Council in terms of the procedure provided for in this clause.

10.3 The outgoing Chairperson shall preside over the annual general meeting of the Council and shall call for nominations for a Chairperson for the forthcoming term of office (when applicable) at the conclusion of such a meeting.

10.4 A person other than a representative or alternate of the parties to the Council, who has consented to his/her nomination, may also be nominated as Chairperson.

10.5 A person to be nominated shall be duly proposed and seconded.

10.6 The person receiving the highest percentage of the total votes, shall be declared the duly elected Chairperson: Provided that in the event of a deadlock the Secretary shall draw lots in accordance with this clause to determine the duly elected Chairperson.

10.7 Should an equal number of votes be cast for two or more candidates, the Secretary shall, in the presence of the meeting, write the name of each candidate on a separate piece of paper and place such papers in a suitable container and shall draw one of the papers from the container.

3 The employer, NEHAWU and NUPSAW are of the view that the words in bold, if an agreement is entered into in the Council then" should be inserted into this clause; and NWU, PSA, DENOSA and HOSPERSA support the inclusion of clause 9.5, without the phrase in bold.
10.8 The candidate whose name is so drawn shall be deemed to have been duly elected.

10.9 The Chairperson shall hold office for a term of 12 months unless removed by a decision of the Council. Any past Chairperson may be re-elected.

10.10 The provisions on the election of the chairperson apply to the election of the two vice chairpersons: Provided that one shall be elected by the employer and that the other shall be elected by the admitted trade unions.

10.13 Whenever the Chairperson or the two vice Chairpersons are absent or unable to act at a meeting, their representatives present shall elect from their number someone to act as Chairperson at that meeting.

10.14 The Chairperson or the two vice Chairpersons are not entitled to vote on any matter. Provided that if any of the vice Chairpersons has not been replaced by another representative of that party to the Council, that vice Chairperson may vote on any matter and the same applies to a representative elected to act as Chairperson in the absence of the Chairperson or the vice Chairpersons.

10.15 The term of office of the Chairperson or the vice Chairpersons may be terminated by written notice of either such Chairperson, or the Council consequent to a resolution to that effect.

10.16 Where applicable, the Council shall from time to time determine a honorarium payable to the Chairperson of the Council provided that, should it become necessary or desirable to retain the services of the Chairperson on a full time basis, the Council shall determine the salary and other conditions of employment of the Chairperson by agreement.
